Q4 Commentary

The Greek stock market enters 2026 with positive momentum, supported by structural reforms, enhanced international visibility, and deeper integration with European market infrastructure. A key milestone is the ongoing alignment with Euronext, one of the most consequential upgrades for the Athens Stock Exchange in over a decade, improving market access, technological standards, post-trade efficiency and overall competitiveness. This transition has materially strengthened foreign investor engagement, positioning Greece more firmly within the developed European capital markets ecosystem.

Greece exhibits solid economic growth, with GDP growth outpacing the EU average, supported by a robust macroeconomic environment and sustainable public finances. Greece continues to offer substantial investment opportunities, driven by strong corporate earnings growth, with opportunities across banking, energy, tourism, and infrastructure, and an improving investment landscape with enhanced political stability. Foreign investment flows and M&A activity further reinforce the attractiveness of the market.

Valuations remain compelling. Greek equities trade at an attractive discount to European peers, with the market on a 2027E P/E of 9.6x. In 2025, the ASE index returned +44.3%, while the FTSE Banks index rose +78.4%. Triton (LF) Greek Equity (Class A) delivered +47.95%, outperforming its benchmark by +3.65 percentage points.

Investment risks

Risks from the Sub-Fund's techniques and securities

| Market | Liquidity | Derivatives (Leverage) | Concentration |
|---|---|---|---|
| The fund is subject to normal market fluctuations and the risks associated with investing in securities markets. The value of your investment and the income from it may be affected by general economic and political factors as well as industry or company specific factors. | The fund operates in a market characterized by low trade volumes and securities that may become illiquid. This results in a higher risk of losses due to reduced trading speed/efficiency and sharper price fluctuations. | The derivatives market introduces significant levels of complexity, increasing the probability of adverse gains or losses to the fund that holds derivatives. The higher sensitivity to price movements of the underlying asset can asymmetrically affect the price of a derivative that is linked to it. | Mutual funds with concentrated investment policy may be exposed to higher risk, higher volatility and lower liquidity from mutual funds with less concentrated portfolio. |
